TERMS — TO KNOW

ADAGIO

At ease in music (i.e. play slowly).

BASS

The lowest of the standard four voice ranges (bass, tenor, alto, soprano); the lowest melodic line in a musical composition, often thought of as defining and supporting the harmony; in an orchestral context, the term usually refers to the double bass.

DRAMATIST

A person who writes plays.

FRIT

Crushed glass often melted onto other glass to produce patterns and color.

BEAD MANDREL

Metal rod used to construct a glass bead around. When cooled and removed, the space occupied by the mandrel creates the hole through the bead.

MARVER

A tool used in glassblowing. A marver is a large flat table. The molten glass piece is rolled across its surface. It is used to not only shape the glass, but to remove heat as well. The rapid absorption of heat by the marver creates a stronger skin (surface tension) than the use of a wooden tool. Marver is derived from the word "marble." Marble was originally used in the construction of this specialized table. Modern marvers are made of steel – typically stainless steel. Lampworkers use small graphite marvers mounted on or near their torches.

MEET THE STAFF

Meet Dance Instructor, Joan Rodriguez Hernandez, born in Havana, Cuba, in 1992. After 8 years of study he graduated in 2011 as Ballet Dancer-Professor at the School of Ballet in Cuba and has taken workshops taught by choreographers and teachers from different countries. He began to dance professionally once he graduated. He was part of the Danza Abierta Company for almost three years, and at the same time he was collaborating with other companies.

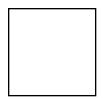

Sciences in Alabama, he participated in a work of dance-theater that was presented in Tuscaloosa and New York. Then he started working with the young Cuban company Malpaso Dance. In this company he was working under the direction of Osnel Delgado, resident choreographer of the group, and had the opportunity to work with Trey McIntyre and Ron K. Brown, two American choreographers. From 2013 to date he has danced in about 15 cities throughout the United States and Canada. He has danced in theaters and festivals such as The Joyce Theater and Guggenheim Museum in New York, The Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival in Massachusetts, The Yard in Martha's Vineyard and Laguna Dance Festival in California among others. He also participated in the Luminato Festival in Toronto, Canada. During this time he gained experience not only as a dancer, but also as a teacher, choreographer and even as artistic director.

Recently he decided to make his life in the United States and now lives in Phoenix where he hopes to continue contributing to the world of dance.

Meet Artist in Residency in Ceramics, Rob Kolhouse. Rob Kolhouse received his BFA from Indiana University, and in 2014, his MFA from the University of Florida. Heavily influenced by Donna Haraway's Cyborg Manifesto and the cyberpunk classic Ghost in the Shell, his figure sculptures investigate constructed gender using the cyborg. In addition to his sculpture, he produces a line of vessels with irreverent characters on them.
