ARTISTS IN RESIDENCE

ELLIOT KAYSER CERAMICS

Elliott is a sculptor and current resident artist at Mesa Arts Center. He received his Bachelor's degree from Alfred University in 2007, and his MFA in Ceramics from ASU in 2017. While between degrees, Elliott moved to Ann Arbor, MI where he worked at a ceramic tile company and volunteered on small family farms. His art over the past decade has been about the values learned in the fields, taking care of both the animals and the people within the agricultural community. Elliott's upcoming shows include a solo exhibition at Mesa Contemporary Art Museum in January 2019 and a public art project on the Green Way in Boston beginning in February 2019.

SAM TROXELL METAL SCULPTURE

I have been a Resident Artist at Mesa Arts Center since 2012 and have taught various classes as a Master Instructor Teacher in the sculpture studio. I am a skilled blacksmith, knifemaker, jeweler, and foundry artist and often call myself a metalsmith for my 15 years of knowledge in metalworking. Most of my metalsmithing knowledge was gained while I earned my Bachelor of Arts at the University of La Crosse Wisconsin and during my Masters of Fine Art studies at Arizona State University. The Japanese term Wabi best describes my view of artistic expression, "beauty without gleaming color that is spiritual not sensory and is a refreshing simplicity among earthly extravagance." Currently, I am inspired by Damascus steel for its earthly beauty and have created various knives and jewelry pieces from the material. I also appeared on the reality show Forged in Fire on the History channel competing in a knife making competition. I am a dedicated artist that loves working with metal and I love sharing my knowledge with new artists.

MEET THE STAFF

MEET LEAD CERAMICS TECHNICIAN, JENNEVA KAYSER

The spirit of play and exploration guides my work in ceramics. I think of the ceramic studio as an alchemist's workshop: with humble materials, patience, practice, and a little fire, sometimes we get pure magic. I earned my Bachelor of Fine Arts from Kalamazoo College, and worked for ArtEducarte in Quito, Ecuador, The Clay Studio in Philadelphia, PA, and The Ann Arbor Art Center in Ann Arbor, MI, before taking my current role as the Studio Manager for ceramics at The Mesa Arts Center.

MEET DRAWING AND PAINTING INSTRUCTOR, HELEN NORSIGIAN ROWLES

Helen Norsigian Rowles was born in East St. Louis, Illinois, to first generation American parents of Armenian descent. Her Armenian cultural roots both shaped and influenced her childhood. Helen's mother was an artist who gave her children access to the arts at an early age. The family frequently visited the St. Louis Art Museum and the first major exhibit Helen saw growing up was a retrospective showing Van Gogh's paintings that has remained vivid in her mind to this day.

Helen received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from Arizona State University in 1983. Through college she painted scenery for The Lyric Opera Theatre and participated in several group showings. Helen was awarded a Board of Regents scholarship based on her portfolio and after graduating, she worked as a freelance artist painting and drawing portraits, illustrations, and murals. Helen received her Master of Arts Degree in Education in 2008 and has taught studio art classes at Mesa Arts Center since 2005.
